The reformers, who got the bill through the Legislature, say they will stop the game entirely if they can arrest owners for running their horses for purses and stakes. The whole trouble in Arkansas, as in other Western States, has been prought about by the predominance of the sampling element in the control of the sport.

One of the worst starts of the winter season curred at Oakland the other day when, out a big field that went to the post for the Per-Jessup and Earl Rogers, got away at the raising of the harrier. President John J. Taylor of the Boston Americans announces that he will trade Shortstop Fred Parent to some other club as soon as possible. Parent went to Little Rock not long ago to talk business with Taylor, but they could not agree upon terms at all. Last season Parent received $4,250 for his work, but as he did not play good ball he was asked to accept a cut of $500. Parent, however, has held out for not only $4,250 again but also a contract for three years. As ing a fine game at short field for the Bostons, Taylor has concluded to get rid of Parent. The latter is a high class ball player, but it s doubtful if any other club would be willing to assume his $4,250 contract. An attempt o trade him to Washington for Jake Stahl may be made in the near future, or it is possible that the Philadelphia Americans may make an offer for him, as Mack would like to play Monte Cross at third base.

SURPRISES AT NEW ORLEANS. Jungle Imp Wins at Odds of 60 to 1 -God Field for Derby

NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—The twelfth renewal of the Crescent City Derby will be decided to-morrow at the Fair Grounds.

This is the last of the big stakes here this season and it is expected that all records in the way of attendance will be smashed. Weather indications are that the Derby will e run over a fast track. Twelve have been named, with Chinn & Forsythe's Montgomery who arrived here yesterday, as the ante-post favorite at 7 to 5. There will probably be some withdrawals before post time, as several three-year-olds with no claim to class are among the dozen named to go.

Many visitors arrived here to-day from northern points to witness the race. Among the most notable ones was Capt. James H.

Reese, who at one time was considered the best racing official in the West. Hal Woodford, owner of Pink Star, also arrived from Lexington, while Boots Durnell came from Los Angeles to see his colt Temaceo perform. The field, barring possibly four, is one of the most classy that have ever contended for a Derby in the South. The Burlew & O'Neill stable has named Judge Post and Sir Toddington. The latter colt is the hope of Mountain rode the extreme outsider, and hooking up with Nicol in the last 100 yards of the journey, succeeded in getting his mount up in time to secure the verdict by a head. Telescope, a relic of good old days, came into his own in the six furlong selling race after being backed heavily. The half brother to the great Domino was practically left at the post, but ran around his field and won in a drive from Husted, who was the favorite. Lute Foster proved easily best of a flock of ten two-year-olds in the half mile selling event, and with Mountain in the saddle and 13 to 5 against her won galloping from Finesse and Antoine.

Accordingly invitations have been sent to Harvard, Brown, and Dartmouth to come into the game. if they accept, to come into the game. If they accept, which is likely, Cornell will also be admitted. For the last two years the Ithacans have been craving a place for their wrestlers, but were not let in. The reason is probably that an odd number of league members would involve the arrangements. At present only Yale, Princeton, Columbia and Pennsflvania are on the list.

NEW YORK AMERICANS LOSE.

MACON TEAM WINS IN EXCITING GAME BY 9 TO 7.

Great Raily in Ninth by Local Team When Griffith's Men Looked to Have Victory in Sight-Hitting Honors Go to Georgia Organization-Laporte's Costly Muff.

Macon, Ga., March 22.-The Macons looked like champions alongside of the New York Americans to-day and beat them in a most exciting game by the score 9 to 7. The Macons the South Atlantic League, and until to-day they have not impressed the home folks that they were strong enough to make a respectable showing in their own league this amer. There is no denying that they played all around Griffith's boys. They hit the ball harder and at more opportune moments, and they showed better judgment on the bases. Once while Clarkson held the ball in his hand, one of the locals headed for second, and when Walter turned to nail him, neither Conroy nor Kleinow was at second to receive the throw.

Some allowance must be made for the patched up team Griffith had in the field, yet there was no good reason why the New Yorks did not play according to their system. They did make a good rally in the sixth and ninth innings and managed to work in a squeeze play successfully. They had nothing on the locals, however, who came right back at them in the ninth and got away with the same kind

The Macons also showed a lot of cleverness in the fleiding in the ninth inning, when a fast double play sent the New Yorks back to their hotel with the sting of the first defeat of the season rankling in their breasts. Two of the Macon runs were due directly to muff in left field by Laporte, the ball getting lost in the sun. In hitting, however, the Georgians came off with the honors. Their rally in the ninth inning, when Harnish sent in two men with a triple, was a feature of the game which caused the fans to cheer like

Neither Doyle nor Clarkson was in his best form, the former especially lacking class. Clarkson on two occasions performed splendidly, twice striking out men on three pitched balls. He had a world of speed, but his curves did not break properly and the heavy hitters of the locals had little trouble with hitters of the locals had little trouble with his delivery.

Griffith was npeet over the defeat and he threatened to have the teams out early in the morning for a two hours practice. Overconfidence had much to do with the New Yorks defeat, as they thought they had the game won when they took the lead in the eighth, not expecting the grand rally which the locals made in the ninth. Berger and Hughes were scheduled to do the slab work to-morrow, but it is probable that Griffith himself may pitch part of the game. The score follows:

DONLIN TO JOIN NEW YORKS. Team Arrives at San Antonio and Has Lively Practice.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 22.-Mike Donlin has agreed to join the New York Nationals in New Orleans. McGraw received a telegram to that effect from Donlin on the team's arrival here from Los Angeles early this morning. Donlin asked that his transportation from Chicago to New Orleans be arranged for by the club. McGraw refuses to say whether the club or Donlin won out on the salary question, but expresses himself a much pleased that the player is to be with him again. The members of the team are also extremely happy that Mike is to be one of them.

There was grave danger this morning that McGraw would cancel the scheduled games between the New Yorks and St. Louis Americans to-morrow and Sunday and leave the city in disgust. This was brought about by the very poor hotel accommodations afforded the party. The hotel could only provide five rooms for thirty-five persons and there was a merry war of the McGraw variety in an instant. Six we'ks notice had been in an instant. Six we'ks notice had been given to the hotel management still arrangements were inadequate. McGraw threatened to quit the town uni ss better accommodations could be furnished, but the proprietor of the hotel was adamant. "Put up with what I can give you or quit. I am doing the best I can," he said. McGraw put the best face he could on the matter and decided to remain.

face he could on the matter and decided to remain.

The weather to-day was superb, the best for training experienced on the trip so far. The players were out at Electric Park at 11 o'clock this morning and worked fast and steady until 2 o'clock, giving them three solid hours of hard work. The sun shone down as hot as on a July day in New York and the players worked all the kinks out of their muscles. Even Shay showed no lameness in his arm. It was feared that the six dayslayoff would affect the boys seriously, but not one of them was at all off. In fact they were faster on their feet and threw better than when in Los Angeles. They may show stiffness to-merrow, however.

The pitchers were not allowed to let themselves out. They merely tossed easy balls to the batamen. Much local interest is manifested in the two same saries between the New Yorks and St. Louis and big crowds are expected.

CLEVELANDS NOT FEARED. iew York Americans Watch Jajole's Men Play at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 22 .- Some of the New York Americans had an opportunity to watch the work of the Cleveland team o-day when Lajoie brought his team from Macon to play two games against Atlanta. to get a line on the "Larrupers" and after the slaughter was over all declared that the team was no more to be feared this season than it was last year.

Jim McGuire said: "The team is just the same as lined up last year for the opening games and will be no harder to beat this year than then. The players look very much faster than we do, but every man on the Cleveland team is in good shape, while we are in the midst of a slump and most of our best men are still suffering from strains or muscle bruises brought on by the work of the last couple of weeks. When we get down to hard work next week and begin to use our arms the way those fellows are doing, we will sot look so bad. We have a couple of weeks before the season opens and there is no use in being ready too soon. We will be there when the umpire calls 'Play ball!"

NEW YORK GYMNASTS WIN.

N. Y. U. Takes Team Championship and

Schoonmaker of Columbia the Individual PHILADELPHIA, March 22 .- The intercollegiate gymnastic championship was won again by New York University to-night in the meet at Weightman Hail, University of Pennsylvania, with a total of 17 points. Pennsylvania sylvania, thanks to the two wins by her gifted gymnast Krauss, took second with 10 points, closely pursued by Harvard, with 9 points. The individual championship, whichsupposed to rest between Gilbert of Yale and Dowd of Princeton was captured by Schoonmaker of Columbia, the other two getting second and third respectively.

By far the best work of the evening was done by the Pennsylvania gymnast, E. E. Krauss, who took a first in both the parallel and horizontal bars. New York won the horizontal bar, bar, flying rings and tumbling events and took a third in the horizontal bar, and Harvard took the other first, when bar, and Harvard took the other life, when Bennett won the club swinging event, the last Bennett won the club swinging event, the last on the programme.

The plan devised by the Quaker management to pull the meet off in good time proved successful, as far as the actual work of the contestants was concerned, but the scheme of scoring was so difficult that it was fully an hour after the last event before the spectators knew who won the meet of the individual championship.

M. M. Thompson of the Columbia team, broke his arm just previous to the start of the meet while he was warming up in the parallel bars. This was the only accident of the meet, but, coming as it did at the very outset, it caused a damper to be placed on the contestants.

LONDON, March 22.-In the intervarsity sports on the Queen's Club grounds to-day Oxford won 8% events to Cambridge's 1%. Oxford won 8½ events to Cambridge's 1½.

A. M. Stevens of Yale and Oxford threw the hammer 146 feet 9 inches, making a record for intervarsity sports.

Powell of Cambridge won the 120 yard hurdle race in 15 3-5 seconds, equaling Kraenzlein's British record.

P. M. Young of South Dakota, a student at Oxford, won the long jump with 23 feet 4 inches. In the half mile race W. E. Schutt, formerly of Cornell, a student at Oxford, finished second.

P. M. Young also won the high jump with Steet 5½ inches.

AMONG THE AUTOMOBILISTS.

NEXT SHOW IN THE GARDEN MAY BE HELD IN NOVEMBER.

Every Member of the Manufacturers' Association Favors an Early Date-Automobile Club's Fixture May Conflict With Chicago's -State Association's Officers

E. H. Cutler, chairman of the executive committee of the Association of Licenses Automobile Manufacturers, said yesterday bat as every member of the association had voted in favor of holding the annual "licensed" automobile show earlier than has been the ustom in the past it is practically certain that the next show by the association in Madison Square Garden will be held next November. Ever since the "independent show was held last December in the Grand Central Palace by the Automobile Club of America, with the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association underwriting a large block of space, there has been a great deal of surmise concerning the attitude of the licensed makers toward an earlier date for their annual exhibition. Until yesterday, however, no official confirmation could be obtained of the many rumors extant on the subject.

Mr. Cutler said that while there was at present no available date open to hold a show in Madison Square Garden in November, it seemed likely that the "business" show, which has secured the week just before the Horse Show week, would change its date so that the licensed makers would be able to display their cars in the Garden during November. He said that the makers could easily have their 1908 models ready at such a date, and that a number of them were testing their 1908 models out on the roads at the present time. The makers wish for an early show, as it will give their factories more time to execute the orders from their agents and selling branches. While it is true that the output of many factories is all sold out before a January show could be held, the fact remains that detailed specifications regarding body types, color of finish and other necessary details do not reach factories to any extent until after the big annual shows in New York and Chicago. S. A. Miles, general manager of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers, under whose auspices the annual Chicago show is held, said yesterday that the next Chicago show would be held during either the first or second week of next December. This determination of the N. A. A. M. to hold its Chicago show early in December will produce a very interesting situation as regards the show question, as it has been the generally accepted idea that the Automobile Club of America would hold its show this year again in the Grand Central Palace during the first week of December, as was the case for its last and very successful exhibition. If the Chicago show is held also during the first or even the second week of December this year it is likely to embarrass the Automobile Club of America, as well as the members of the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association and the large number of concerns that are not members of the latter organization, but are shut out of the earlier licensed show in this city either because they make steam cars or inlicensed gasolene ones.

It would prove a great tax on many factories to get out two sets of show cars and to be compelled to divide up their selling forces between two shows, one in New York and the other in Chicago. Even if the Automobile Club were to hold its show during the first week of December and the Chicago show were to be held during the second week, it would create lots of confusion, as it would not be poscreate lots of confusion, as it would not be possible to ship exhibits from this city to Chicago. S. M. Butler, secretary of the Automobile Club of America, was asked if his organization had made any new plans regarding shows and said that the show committee of the club had not had a meeting for several weeks and had therefore not considered holding their show any earlier than last year. The club has no wish to complicate the show situation and Mr. Butler could not say whether or not the A. C. A. show would be advanced into November or earlier.

Oliver A. Quayle of the Albany Automobile Club was unanimously reelected president of the New York State Automobile Associa-tion at the annual meeting held at Auburn on Thursday of this week. Mr. Quayle as tion at the annual meeting held at Auburn on Thursday of this week. Mr. Quayle as chairman off the legislative board of the State association has kept track of the numerous automobile measures introduced in the New York Legislature, and it is likely from present indications that the existing law will continue in effect without amendments of any sort being added.

M. S. Woodworth of the Rochester Automobile Club was reelected to the first vice-presidency, N. M. Pierce of the Binghamton Automobile Club to the office of treasurer, and C. D. Hakes of the Albany Automobile Club was continued in the secretary's office, he having recently been elected to fill the unexpired term of Frederick H. Ellictt, who resigned in order to take the place of secretary of the American Automobile Association. The New York State Automobile Association has a membership of twenty clubs, including the Cohoes Automobile Club. Which was admitted Thursday, and about 3,760 members. Its policy has been to ask nothing unreasonable and at the same time it has vigorously and successfully contested against oppressive measures.

Those who attended the meeting were: President Oliver A. Quayle, Albany Automobile Club; Secretary C. D. Hakes, Albany Automobile Club; Secretary C. D. Hakes, Albany Automobile Club; Secretary C. D. Hakes, Albany Automobile Club; S. M. Butler and Emerson Brooks, Automobile Club of America; W. H. Van Auken, Utica Automobile Club; F. B. Hower, A. H. Knoll and Dai H. Lewis, Automobile Club of Buffalo; A. G. Batchelder, New York Motor Club, and S. C. Tallman, Automobile Club of Auburn. The reports presented showed the State association to be in a very prosperous condition, with a balance in the treasury and a growing membership. Plans are being made for further increasing the value of the organization to the automobilists of this State. Following the business session the Automobile Club of Auburn tendered a dinner to the directors at the City Club, where the meeting was held. C. J. Glidden of Boston was the guest of honor, and later in the evening he gave an illustrated lecture.

The new automobile law of Delaware has been sent to Gov. Lea for his signature. Twelve miles an hour is allowed in cities or towns in which the houses are less than 100 feet apart. Twenty miles is the speed limit in the open country. The registration fee for owners of machines is $3 and for chauffeurs $2. Non-residents are allowed to use their machines ten days during the year in Delaware without registration providing they are registered in their home State.

W. J. Morgan, promoter of the Ormond Peach races in Florida and the Mount Washington hill climbing contests, is an ardent advocate of good roads and recently expressed himself on the subject as follows in the Times-Union of Jacksonville, Fla.: "Every well wisher and believer in the undoubted great future of Florida is fully alive to the tremendous importance that can be attached to the outcome of the endeavor to have the prison labor of the State used for road building and the fate of the bills that will be introduced at Tallahassee next April. As one who has labored in the interest of the movement North and South, I believe now, as I believed eleven years ago, when I interviewed the Governors of the South on the proposition, that prison labor can not be utilized with better results than it can in providing much needed good roads for every State in the Union."

for every state in the Union.

The German Automobile Technical Association at its meeting in Berlin last month discussed the subject of the advisability of providing means by which the rear seat occupants of a car may control the speed. The subject was brought up by the Imperial Automobile Club of Germany. The association after an extended discussion decided against such means. The point particularly in view in this discussion was the eventuality of the driver becoming disabled, in which case it would be desirable for the rear seat occupants to stop the car. It was pointed out in the discussion, however, that such stopping means might easily be misused by nervous passengers, and might of itself lead to accidents.

The good roads idea has gained many advocates all over the country in the last few years, and the inhabitants of the western part of Tennessee have recently evinced considerable interest in the subject of improved highways. The council of the city of Memphis will be asked to cooperate with Nashville and other important cities in the State to establish a system of State highways. A bill contemplating the preliminary plans for such a system of roads has been prepared and will be introduced immediately after the ercess. Despite the steady progress which has been made in the Central and Eastern States in favor of good roads the South has up to the present remained indifferent. The bill which the city council will be asked to support only asks for a sufficient appropriation to cover the expenses of a preliminary tour. The idea is to connect Memphis with Knozville by a State road.

Thompson, to form a nucleus, the rest of the team will be composed of freshmen and inexperienced players. Great hopes were set on the entrace into the college of several Townsend Harris Hall lacrosse stars, but these have shown little interest in the showing made by the college players in the first game the association council will decide whether to continue the sport in the future or not.

CABLE CHESS TO-DAY.

Columbia, Harvard and Yale Against Oxford and Cambridge.

In readiness for the seventh cable chess natch, beginning between the American and British universities at 8 o'clock this morning. the team representing Columbia, Harvard and Yale gathered at the rooms of the Rice Chess Club yesterday afternoon. The sextet which will face the Oxford-Cambridge combination to-day is made up as follows

J. R. Capablanca, Columbia; Q. A. Brackett, Harvard; L. J. Wolff, Columbia, J. L. Clark, Harvard; E. B. Burgess, Yale; H. Blumberg, Columbia. Owing to illness on the part of Capt. W. M.

Owing to illness on the part of Capt. W. M. Ward. Princeton will this year not be represented in the match. Clark of Harvard is wholly new to college chess, he being substituted for G. T. McClure of the intercollegiate team. Clark comes from Nebraska and is champion of that State.

The rooms of the Rice Chess Club in the Cafe Boulevard at 156 Second avenue in this city and those of the Metropolitan Chess Club in the Inns of Court. Hotel in London have been placed in direct communication by the Commercial cables and the match will be finished, as last year, in one day. At the local club the rooms have been decorated with American and British flags and giant exhibition boards are in place for the convenience of the onlookers. The six American students will be roped off so as to be free from all interruption.

The Hon. James Bryce, the British Ambassador, has been invited to witness the play. William E. Napier, ex-champion of Great Britain, will referee the match.

LASKER WINS. Beats Marshall in Thirteenth Game of Championship Chess Match. MEMPHIS, March 22 .- When Lasker and Marshall continued play in the thirteenth game of their championship chess match late last evening Lasker managed to get both queen and rooks on the seventh row, thereby practially assuring a win. Marshall tried his best to avert defeat, but when the game finally had to be adjourned after six hours of play the latter was three pawns down. This afternoon they made seven additional moves, when Marshall resigned.

The score now reads: Lasker, 6: Marshall, 0: drawn, 6. The fourteenth game is scheduled for to-morrow afternoon and evening. The score of the thirteenth game is appended:

LACROSSE TEAM WEAKENED. C. C. N. Y. Loses Several Strong Players

and May Abandon the Game. Owing to the lack of candidates for the lacrosse team of the College of the City of New York there is serious talk of discon tinuing the sport for some time. The prosas more than half of last year's squad were graduated. Accidents have further depleted he remaining veterans and as a result three of the six stars left cannot participate. One of the six stars left cannot participate. One of the hardest positions to replace is the point, until lately held for several seasons by Panaroni. He was a fixture at point until he met with an accident which fractured his ankle in the gymnasium last week. Gilbert, another old star, and also half back on the football team, will be unable to play in first defence position because of lameness resulting from water on the knee, developed this winter.

The attack is greatly weakened by the loss of Morris, who has been barred by the faculty because of scholarship. His loss is most heavily felt, because of his ability to score goals. He alone last season scored more than half the goals for his team. With but three old players, Dixon, Hubert and Thompson, to form a nucleus, the rest of the team will be composed of freshmen and inexperienced players. Great hopes were set on the entrance into the college of several Townsend Harris Hall lacrosse stars, but these have shown little interest in the sport and have turned to baseball. On the showing made by the college players in the first game the association council will decide whether to continue the sport in the future or not.

COACHING CLUB TO CLAREMONT. Spring Meet on Second Saturday in May Philadelphians Expected.

At a committee meeting of the Coaching Club yesterday arrangements were completed for the spring meet. It will be held on the second Saturday of May and will be followed by a luncheon at the Claremont. The coaches opposite the Metropolitan Club at 11:30 o'clock in the morning, the teams facing downtown. Col. Jay's yellow and green coach will head the line and will take its position at Fifth avenue and Sixtieth street. The others will line up in the order in which they arrive, except that the primrose and rose coach of the vice-president, R. W. Rives, will close the line. Should Mr. Rives be an absentee the last place will be taken by the secretary, G. G. Haven, Jr. The drive will be through Central Park to the circle at will be through Central Park to the circle at 106th street, where Col. Jay will review the coaches. The whips and their guests will then go to the Clareniont, by way of West Seventy-second street and Riverside Drive, where luncheon will be served.

This is a reversal of the programme of 1895, when nine whips were in line and the finish was at the Claremont. Before that, since the lower Fifth avenue meets, the drives had usually ended at Jerome Park. Afterward the Morris Park racetrack was the destination, and for the past three years the meet has been in the afternoon, after a luncheon at the Metropolitan Club, with a dismissal after the review. The review is not a matter of complicated driving evolutions, but, as with the meets in Hyde Park, London, or of the the review. The review is not a matter of complicated driving evolutions, but, as with the meets in Hyde Park, London, or of the Philadelphia Four-in-Hand Club, the line haits and the tailender drives from last to first place, the whips all repeating this mangauvre until Col. Jay does the same and is again in front. It gives an opportunity for friends to greet each other and for the whips to note the other teams and turnouts.

There have been only four blank years since the first meet of the Coaching Club in 1876, which were from 1897 to 1990 inclusive. It will be the twenty-fourth year that the club's president, Col. William Jay, has led the line.

This is a unioue record, even in the annals of driving enthusiasm, for the upholders of coaching are noted for their zeal in the sport. Col. Jay's absence in 1878 brought Col. Delancey Kane to the head of the line in 1890 and in 1894 the late Frederic Bronson had the place, and when he was last an absence, in 1905. R. W. Rives was the leader. There were eighteen coaches in line in 1904, the greatest number to turn out, the high mark before having been sixteen in 1884. There were twelve drags on parade last year, which is the average number. One or more members of the Philadelphia four-in-Hand Club are expected to drive as guests this year. E. B. Smith of that city took part last year and in 1904, and since the second parade of 1877 Philadelphia has usually been represented. Philadelphia has usually been represented
